Two trunks full of opium, valued at $28,000, were exhibited in the United States court last week in Phoenix at the trial of Charles Fitzsimmons, charged with smuggling the opium from Cananea to Los Angeles.

J. W. Casperson, who recently got into trouble in Tucson by passing worthless checks, is again in Prescott. It would seem that Casperson was merely careless in managing his funds and that he did not know that he had no money in the bank when he drew the checks.

A Phoenix bridegroom picked rice out of his ears four months after the rice-throwing affair occurred. Moral—cook it before throwing it.

Emanuel Drachman, of Tucson, says he will have 10,000 names on his petition for the office of U. S. marshal. It is understood that Ben Crawford and W. T. Webb of Graham county and Joe Dillon of Prescott will oppose Drachman for the office.

At Prescott, L. L. Dewell, owner of a battery of steam shearing plants, arrived from Hot Springs Junction to perfect plans for the coming winter shearing season. The drive to the south will soon be under way and good grazing is the report from that region.

Construction of the Arizona Sanitarium at Safford has actually commenced and within a few days work will have begun on the pipe line which is to convey the lithia water to the sanitarium from the mineral springs, according to Dr. W. J. Galbraith, who is at the head of the enterprise.

Another diamond, representing Arizona's star in the equal suffrage flag, will go into the small flag-jewel given by Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Equal Suffrage Association by Susan B. Anthony. This will be one of the results of Arizona's vote to allow women the right of the ballot.

The fees collected by the incorporating department of the Arizona corporation commission during the month of October were approximately $11,500. With the exception of September, when the amount ran up to $17,000, this is the heaviest month in the history of the commission. August's record was $10,500.

Mr. R. L. Newman, proprietor of the Holbrook Hotel, has left the contract to Joe Kleindienst for the erection of a twelve room addition to that popular hotel. Mr. Newman has been hard pressed for some time to accommodate all who applied for accommodations and his unceasing efforts to please all guests has resulted in his building up a business that may even call for more additions to his popular hostelry ere the spring months arrive.—Holbrook News.

Pasadena, Calif. C. L. Parsons of the Chas. H. Ward Drug Co., writes: "We have sold and recommended Foley's Honey & Tar Compound for years and believe it to be one of the most efficient remedies on the market, containing no opiates or narcotics, it can be given freely to children." What's in a Name?

Some years ago in order to make their inheritance of land more simple and secure, our government commissioned Dr. Charles A. Eastman, a Sioux Indian, to rename more than 15,000 Sioux with their family name. The task was a tremendous one and full of difficulties. Where possible Dr. Eastman kept the original Sioux name of some members of a family, as in bestowing the name "Matoska," meaning "White Bear," on the family of that chief. Sometimes the combination of wife's name and husband's name has produced musical results, such as "Winona Otana." The favorite name for women names "She who has a beautiful home," which Dr. Eastman has Anglicized in the patronymic "Goodhouse." But by far the hardest task was to find new names for the absurdities of Indian nomenclature.

"Bobtailed Coyote" was a young Indian who has come to prefer himself as "Robert T. Wolf." After a long struggle with "Rotten Pumpkin" Dr. Eastman at last recorded the owner of the name on the tribal records under the noncommittal title of "Robert Pumpian."

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

Fried Oysters with Cabbage Tartar

Wipe a pint of choice oysters on a cloth; season half a cupful of flour with salt and pepper; roll the oysters, one by one in the flour (more may be needed), then dip in egg beaten with three tablespoonfuls of milk, and, finally, roll in sifted bread or cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat. In an ordinary frying bowl five or six oysters may be fried at a time. Drain on a soft paper at the mouth of the oven. Let each oyster lie by itself on the paper while draining, to avoid softening the crust. The fat should be hot enough to brown the crumbs and cook the oysters in eighty or ninety seconds. A skimmer is quite as good as a frying basket for oysters; slip from skimmer into the fat and remove with skimmer when cooked. Have ready a hot napkin on a serving dish. On this set a bowl made of a cabbage filled with tartare; dispose the oysters on the napkin around cabbage; serve at once. Cold slaw or Philadelphia relish may replace the cabbage tartare.

CABBAGE TARTARE

Remove the center from a small, hard head of cabbage to leave a thin shell. Chop the cabbage fine; add enough sauce tartare to hold the cabbage together, and use to fill the bowl or shell. Finish with four stoned olives. For the sauce tartare make a cupful of mayonnaise dressing and stir into it half a cupful of mixed fine chopped olives, capers, cucumber pickles and parsley. If desired mustard pickles may be added with good effect.—"A Dish that is Seasonable, Appetizing and Inexpensive, in the Ladies World for October."

Cottolene at Cake-Baking Time

It is mighty hard to obtain uniform results in cake making—if you use butter or lard—because both of these products vary so in quality.

Cottolene is always uniform—always produces good results. With its use, you can count on a certain kind of cake being the same every time.

Cottolene sells at about the price of lard, and is so rich that one-third less is required than either butter or lard.

TRY THIS RECIPE:

Cream $\frac{1}{2}$ cup Cottolene, add 1 cup sugar and mix in alternately $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk and 2 cups pastry flour in which 2 teaspoons baking powder and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt have been well sifted. Beat well, add the well beaten yolks and whites of 3 eggs separately. Bake in two layers. Use any desired filling or frosting.
